May Workshops are Cancelled

As we continue to be cautious, we will follow the guidelines that our workshops churches are following and cancel our meetings for the month of May.

I have kits if you want some, just let me know and we'll work out a way to get them to you.

I am continuing to call the Pediatric floor of NE Georgia Med Center to see if they need more quilts. During April, I delivered 10 to them and by month's end, they had not used them all. It's good to know that the kids are not sick.

Our stockpile of quilts is overflowing our shelves and the pile of quilt tops being made by Betty G. is yet to be quilted. Bottom line...we are in great shape for when we do need to give out quilts. We will need more chunked quilts so the Chunking Team will be asked to meet before June.

The donated sheets we received before Christmas have been prepared as backs and the remaining boxes are less than 3 to be done.

So quilt-on on your personal UFO's and projects for Christmas presents. When the world resumes regular activities, we may not get the opportunity to sew like this again. Don't know about you, but I'm enjoying the chance to catch up on the projects I've wanted to do. And to enjoy the outdoors I have taken on planting a garden for the first time in several years. Why not? Since we live in the country, it's time to challenge myself in attempting to "farm". Maybe there will even be produce to share when we later meet.

Stay safe and keep in touch if you are so inclined.
